Autism is diagnosed in about 1 in every 44 children and can have a profound impact on individuals and families. People with Autism Spectrum Disorders are just as smart (and sometimes smarter) than their peers but have difficulty with social skills and learning in conventional school settings.

Our presentation will:

- help you understand the 5 Major Types of Autism
- provide current statistics regarding Autism and education
- help you discover how to overcome potential obstacles in teaching
- help you learn how to provide environments that promote learning
